School of Electronic Engineering and Computer Science

EBU6304 – Software Engineering Group Project

Intermediate assessment (12th April 2026)

1. GitHub checking

Your group's GitHub repository will be checked for the up-to-date versions of the software. Make sure the GitHub network shows active engagement from all members with respective branches contributing and merged for the release of the new version by 13:00, Sunday 12th April.

2. Demonstration Preparation

The intermediate assessment demonstration will focus on the intermediate versions of the software. This simulates your intermediate meeting with the client in real-life scenario where you inform the clients of your progress. All group members need to attend the scheduled demonstration and viva session. Please bring your laptop with the latest version of your software product. You need to run the programs and show your code. You should NOT prepare presentation slides, and the use of presentation slides will NOT be accepted.

3. The demonstration procedure and marking criteria

The intermediate assessment demonstration will take place at the EBU6304 lab slots on Sunday 12th April. Please check your group's allocated time and room in section 5. All group members must be present.

Your group should run your programs to explain the progress of your software product to one of the Teaching Assistants (who is not the one supporting your group). You will receive some feedback from the TA. The lecturer will also go around to check all groups.

Each group member should speak for 1–2 minutes to introduce a part of the software and clearly highlight their main individual contribution. Each member will be asked 1 or 2 questions related to the design, implementation, unit testing and project management.

Marking criteria: please refer to the project handout in section 6, for the group marks and individual contribution factors.

4. Notes

The intermediate assessment demonstration is scheduled at the EBU6304 lab slots. If any group member cannot attend due to Extenuating Circumstances (ECs), a formal EC application is required. Please refer to the policy document: https://qmplus.qmul.ac.uk/mod/resource/view.php?id=2273977

For general questions related to the group project, please post to the QM+ student forum. For personal matters which will not affect others, please email Dr Alan Wong (alan.wong@qmul.ac.uk)
